

iKey Military Keyboard Applications

iKey understands that in the military, the most important requirements for computer technology are mobility and durability. For over two decades, iKey has worked with military installations around the world to provide rugged peripheral solutions. We also work with OEMs, providing standard or customized keyboards that easily integrate into military solutions. With layouts available in 22 different languages and options for night vision (NVIS) compatible backlighting, iKey's rugged keyboards are excellent for military applications.
